EMERGENCY RESPONSE SERVICE

As a producer of food, feed, consumer products or raw materials, you invest great care and attention in your product. But no matter how strictly you monitor your production processes, you cannot entirely rule out the possibility of defects. If these occur, you need to intervene swiftly and effectively to safeguard your consumers, customers, brands and reputation.

TRISKELION's Emergency Response Services (ERS) provides you with immediate expert support in data collection, risk evaluation, situation management and legal issues. For over 30 years our clients have relied on our experience in providing industry with support for incidents, recalls and issues, and we are involved in hundreds of cases per year.
